Cork City Community Response

Local Information -- Local Assistance -- Local Care

Each year Cork City recognises some of its civic, cultural and community leaders with the annual Lord Mayor's Cultural & Civic Awards and a Community & Voluntary Recognition Ceremony. With COVID-19 restrictions in place the traditional awards ceremony in City Hall could not take place, so this year the awards have gone virtual.

AWARD WINNERS:

Lord Mayor's Cultural Award, is Cónal Creedon, acclaimed playwright, novelist and documentary filmmaker, in recognition of his huge contribution to the arts not just in Cork City but internationally.

Each year six people receive Lord Mayor's Civic Awards in recognition of their efforts to improve the lot of the community. This year and due to the current pandemic, each individual award winner was presented with their award separately and the presentations filmed. This year, the recipients are:

- Dr. Con Murphy, G.P. and former Cork GAA medic;
- Katherine Hartford, Project Manager of Young Knocknaheeny;
- Ronnie Dorney, former HSE Community Worker;
- Dr. Nuala O'Connor, Irish College of General Practitioner's COVID-19 lead and local G.P.;
- Kate Durrant, Community Worker;
- Anne Twomey, Shandon Area History Group.

In the past months the Community and Voluntary sector came to the fore in their excellent response to COVID-19. Under the umbrella of the Cork City Community Response Forum, community and voluntary groups stepped up to aid the most vulnerable when they needed it most. It was decided that rather than single out individual groups for awards, the Lord Mayor on behalf of the City would honour all the community groups and volunteers who proved that community spirit burns bright in this city.

Finally, this year the Lord Mayors Youth Awards recognise the contribution of two youth advocates, Salma Waleed and Alicia O' Donovan for their contribution to youth advocacy and representation.

The Lord Mayor of Cork Cllr. John Sheehan said: "Cork people have always been known for their strong ties to their community but the unity of purpose that I have seen in our communities over the past three and a half months, demonstrates that even in times of great uncertainty, there is a wonderful tenderness and beauty."

Each of the ceremonies can be viewed on Cork City Council's YouTube page here as follows:
Tuesday 9th June 3.30 p.m. – Cultural Award, Wednesday 10th June 3.30 p.m. - Civic Awards
Thursday 11th June 7.30 p.m. - Community & Voluntary Recognition
Friday 12th June 3.30 p.m. – Youth Awards.

We are all in this together
